

Overview

The Information Technology (IT) Division is the City of Holly Hill's central technology provider with two primary responsibilities.

First, to provide the central information technology services required by city departments and offices, including server administration, network services, application development and maintenance, end user support for personal computers (PCs), strategic technology investigation, project oversight, and contract administration for the city's technology service providers.

Second, to provide the vision, leadership, and skills that will enable the City of Holly Hill to benefit from technological innovation and improve service to the community.
